NOTICE OF COL. WM. PRICE.

For The CLIMAX: An early pioneer settler of Jessamine county, serving seven years in the Revolutionary army of Gen. Washington and Gen. Wayne.

They who have hearts to admire nobility imparted by nature's great seal—fearlessness, strength, energy, sagacity, generous, forgetfulness of self, the dedication of service to suffering in the great struggle for American liberty in 1776, and the relation of deeds of daring will not fail to be interested in a brief notice of the life of Col. William Price, who settled in the present limits of Jessamine county in 1787. Contemplated in any light, he was in his way and walk a man as truly great as Penn, Marion and Washington in theirs. He was an extraordinary man by nature, and where nature in her own ineffable character has marked superiority, she looks down upon the tiny and elaborate requirements of art, and in all positions and in all times endures her favorites to the involuntary homage of their fellow men. They are the selected pilots in storms, the leaders in battles and the pioneers in the colonization of new countries. The great principles of freedom and religious liberty which triumphed in Virginia in the Revolution—any war, led to the early settlement of Kentucky, and the very man, in a great measure, who had suffered most from the ravages of war and religious persecution and had been the first to freedom their guns in defense of the freedom of the colonies from British rule, were the first men who had lifted up their voices for religious liberty, from within the walls of Virginia. Many of the early settlers of Kentucky were in a great measure persecuted members of the Baptist church. The church that followed Lewis Craig followed him to the gates of Fredericksburg, Ky., where he and many of his Baptist brethren had been imprisoned for preaching Baptist doctrine. In 1768 Lewis Craig and many of the Baptist ministers were imprisoned in Fredericksburg jail with John Waller, the minister of the "Waller family" in Kentucky. Col. Price was a boy fourteen years of age, on the streets of Fredericksburg, where he and his father saw Lewis Craig, Rev. John Waller and twenty others arrested and imprisoned. Col. Price first came to Kentucky with the traveling church of Lewis Craig, in 1781. He was born near Fredericksburg, Stafford county, Va., in 1755, and died six miles west of Nicholasville, Jessamine county, in 1848, aged fifty-five years. It is the easy task to the writer of this notice to present in a satisfactory manner a sketch of a man who has been dead more than eighty years. However I have collected many interesting letters he wrote during the Revolutionary war and other letters he wrote in defense of his Baptist friends, who had suffered persecution in various prisons in Virginia for opposing the tyranny of the English church in Virginia. The following old letters were given to me forty years ago by Mr. Lewis Lampkins, his son-in-law.

Rev. Daniel Marshall was born in Connecticut in 1708 and was the first to organize the Baptist church in Georgia at Kibola. He died in 1784. The letter of Col. Price shows that he was greatly attached to all Baptist ministers who preached against the Union of church and state.

PRICES HALL, STAFFORD COUNTY, VIRGINIA, May 10, 1783.

My kind and respected friend, I hasten to inform you that I am exceedingly sorry that I did not have the pleasure of seeing you when you called at my father's house on yesterday, on your way to Georgia. Nothing, I assure, would have given me more pleasure than hearing you recount the many victories you have achieved among the people of this Borough, in exposing the rottenness and tyrannical pretensions of the Episcopal church in Virginia. Her desire is as strong now for legal pre-eminence as it ever was in the days of Arch Bishop Laud. But God be praised for giving us such preachers as yourself and such men as Gov. Jefferson, Patrick Henry and Mr. Madison. Lawyers like Jefferson and honest preachers have been the greatest friends of religious liberty. Their profession leads them to watch the encroachments of power, and enables them to detect all hidden mischiefs in measures which the great body of the people seldom perceives until they feel the baneful effects. To no men in Virginia are we more indebted than Mr. Jefferson, Mr. Madison and Mr. Henry. Gov. Jefferson said to me a few days ago at Albemarle Court: "That of all the tyrants, the church tyrant was the meanest." I rejoice, said he, "that the Baptist settlers are exposing the pretensions of the English church and its hierarchy." Gov. Jefferson is a quiet man in all he says; his influence is everywhere felt; he is as firm as the everlasting hills.

Your Good Friend, WILLIAM PRICE.

When Lewis Craig brought his traveling church to Kentucky in 1781, Col. Price was twenty-two years of age. He was in Kentucky about three years. Tradition states that he returned to Virginia in company with James Suggett early in the spring of 1783, and in 1787 he settled in the present limits of Jessamine county, where he reared a large and respectable family of sons and daughters who have settled in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana, and also many of his descendants are prominent men and women in Texas, Arkansas and other southern states. The arbitrary arrests of his Baptist friends and neighbors by the officers of the English church in the colonial days of Virginia had the effect of causing him to be an inveterate enemy of all who were connected or in sympathy with the English church. In the following letter to Capt. Edward Payne, it will be seen that he dislikes the aristocratic airs of the clergy of the English church and invites all his true friends of his persecuted Baptist neighbors to eat oysters and turkey and to attend a dance at the home of his grandmother.

PRICES HALL, STAFFORD COUNTY, VIRGINIA, December 20, 1787.

Captain Edward Payne, overmaster at Gunston Hall: My Dear Sir—This note is to apprise you that I invite you and all your Baptist friends to my home on Christmas day, to partake of a big dinner of turkey and oysters, and to conclude with a dance at grandmother's in the evening. No Episcopalians have been invited. Such people are too aristocratic and too haughty. The people who are common to that church try to imitate their aristocratic brethren of England in almost every act they perform. I have no patience with such larpies as the clergy of this establishment. Their titles, dignities and livings are too much like our late oppressors in the great war just closed. They must now consider that the people of the country look chiefly to the practical and useful and not to mere empty titles which serve no good purpose in a free country. What we want in church as well as State, is plain practical men, devoted men who know and mingle with the people as one of themselves. We want no more cold English airs, no arrogant demeanor among neighbors. Tell Robert Craig to bring his fiddle, as we expect a good time generally. Tell Black Tom to come by all means.

Truly Thine, WILLIAM PRICE.

Col. Price was descended from a Baptist ancestry that immigrated from Wales to the colony of Virginia in 1730.

Col. Price was not a member of the Baptist church at any time in his life, but he had been brought up among the Baptist settlers of Virginia. He loved his old Baptist friends and neighbors whom he met among the mountains of the Blue Ridge. He was arrested and imprisoned for preaching against the tyranny of the English church, and as soon as Lewis Craig settled and erected a church in the neighborhood of Elkton, in Fayette county, he settled among his old Baptist neighbors four miles south of Elkton, near the village of Keene, in Jessamine county. The letter to Col. Lake Allen shows that he settled in Kentucky six years before the State was admitted into the Union.

PRICES HALL, STAFFORD COUNTY, VIRGINIA, December 23, 1787.

Col. Lake Allen: I invite you and other friends to my house on Christmas day to eat turkey and oysters. I have a barrel of peach brandy, five years old, and I have and all my Baptist friends to sure and come, as I expect to leave for new plantation in Kentucky about the 20th of January. Our Baptist friends and members of the English church are very unfriendly, and this unfriendly spirit and hatred has been greatly aggravated since the close of the war, for independence, with a few exceptions, such as Bishop White, Old Doc Diehle and Mr. Muhlenberg. Most of the clergy of the British church had no sympathy in many portions of the country with our people. Most of them with an obstinate characteristic of hypocrisy would not pray for our loved leaders and would insist on receding the prayer for the British King whenever they performed divine service. It is natural for Baptists to dislike such lofty pretensions and to despise a people who aim to copy the aristocratic airs of a church stained with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus. Such a church is not worthy to be a liberty and a republic. Any church policy or doctrine that conflicts with the free spirit of our country can not escape general condemnation. No form of church government that does not fall in with the prevailing principles and tastes of a freedom loving people can ever prosper in our country. We have liberty too well for such creatures to ever succeed in establishing again by law the religion of British Kings.

Thy Old Comrade, WILLIAM PRICE.

His letter inviting Gov. Shelby to celebrate the Fourth of July, in 1794, shows at once the high order of his patriotism in being the first man in Kentucky to celebrate the glorious birth day of American freedom and independence, more than a hundred years ago.

FAYETTE COUNTY, KY., July 4, 1794.

To his excellency, Isaac Shelby, Governor of Kentucky: My esteemed friend, I was greatly disappointed by you not coming to my house yesterday, (July 4th). We had a glorious time and a big dinner, forty men sat down at my table who had served in the late struggle for our freedom and independence. It was a glorious sight to behold, and I wish King George III and Lord North could have witnessed this scene in the wilds of America. On the return of this glorious birthday of our freedom from British despotism the heart of every patriot in the late struggle may rightfully pour forth its highest tribute to God and the great sages and soldiers who led to make their lives and sacred honor in maintaining the Declaration of Independence. Throughout the limits of our country, from Massachusetts to Georgia, the hearts of a free and happy people have been dedicated on yesterday to the contemplation of the great blessings achieved and bequeathed to us by such heroic leaders as George Washington, Paul Revere and Nathaniel Greene. Such brave leaders took their lives in their hands and liberty or death was inscribed on the hearts. God in the plenitude of His beneficence has generally chosen men qualified to resist Kings and tyrants in their attacks on the rights of the people. The history of our mother country is full proof of this fact and our own country is no less a proof of independence is a more brilliant illustration of the great truth that God hates all tyrants and despotic rulers and sooner or later overthrows all such rascals in causing the people to rise up and cut their heads off.

Truly Thy Old Friend, WILLIAM PRICE.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET. Published by GLOVE & DUPRETT, LOUISVILLE TOBACCO WAREHOUSE. Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 2,678 hbls, with receipts for the same period 1,403 hbls. Sales on our market since January 1st, amount to 132,456 hbls. Sales of the crop of 1895 on our market to this date amount to 127,675 hbls.

There have been a few hbls. of fine burley sold on the market this week and the highest prices of the season have been realized, $26 having been paid for two hbls. and quite a number of hbls. of all grades continue to bring satisfactory prices. Good and medium leaf when it is in sweet condition is doing fairly well, but the common nondescript sorts of off color and out of condition are lower than they have been for a number of years.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco 1895 crop: Trash (dark & orange) 1.00 to 1.50 Common orange trash 2.00 to 3.50 Medium to good col trash 3.50 to 5.00 Common lugs not color 2.00 to 3.00 Common orange lugs 4.00 to 6.00 Medium to good col lugs 6.00 to 8.00 Medium to medium leaf 5.00 to 7.00 Medium to good leaf 7.00 to 12.00 Good to fine leaf 12.00 to 15.00 Select wrapper leaf 15.00 to 25.00 The above quotations are for 50 lbs. hbls. to green and frosty crops.

POLLED ANGUSES.

A bunch of fat cattle (black pols) sold at the Chicago Yards last week at $5.30 per cent. In these times such a price is easily equal to $6.50 when money is easy and feed dear. Query: If good cattle are worth $5.30 when our industries are all prostrated and the most rigid economy is being practiced by all consumers what are they likely to bring when the wheels go round again? The Gazette believes we are much nearer to good times again in the cattle trade than many imagine.—Chicago Breeder's Gazette.

In their fusion with the Populists this year the Democrats are doing precisely what was done in 1892, and to which Grover Cleveland owed his election. By a fusion of the Democrats and Populists in that year the Harrison electors were defeated in several States, including Nevada and Nebraska. Why should not the same tactics be used now as then and especially when the second money contingent are hibernating in every possible way to secure a vantage ground.—Blue Grass Clipper.

THE ADVANTAGE OF FREE SILVER.

The great advantage of free silver lies in the fact that it will introduce an era of expanding currency and rising prices in place of the falling market that has so long depressed us. Although the immediate effect of free silver may be to lessen the volume of the currency driving our gold away, yet very soon the influx of silver will more than make good the loss of the gold and the volume will rapidly expand. The consequence will be that prices will rise, commerce and manufactures will be encouraged, labor will be in demand, many who are unemployed will get work, competition for employment will become less severe, wages will rise, and in the end, workmen will be benefited as well as merchants and manufacturers.

Debtors who have been wringed by the shrinkage of prices will recover at least a partial justice and be able to pay off their notes and mortgages with something like a fair equivalent for what they got when they borrowed.—Prof. Frank Parsons of Boston University, in October Arena.

My hair had fallen out until I had come to the conclusion that I was soon to have a bald head.

Hearing so much talk about Nelson's Hawaiian Hair Elixir, I decided to give it a trial. I purchased two bottles, have used a bottle and a half. My hair has thickened up until I have as good a suit as I desire. It will certainly do the work. Besides it is an elegant hair dressing; gives life to the hair and invigorates the scalp. Those similarly affected can't make a mistake in trying it.
